

Ecoplane

facts:

- calibrating on the production board
- "dry" processing
- integration in the production circle
- less space required
- special Tools
- working width on request

Calibrating Machine for wall building stones

With the new calibrating machine, concrete stones are calibrated in a dry process very economically directly on the production board.

The plant is adjusted to your layer size and will be integrated into your existing production circle, so a separate production line is not required.

Custom made solutions to fix the stones during the calibrating process as well as automatic height adjustments for the production board are available.

